THREE DOLLAR -- WEALTH COVENANT

Better than the Stock Market, better than Silver and Gold, even better than an IRA

A covenant is a mutually binding agreement between parties. The parties take on obligations that then give benefits to all under the covenant. It is an improvement in the relationship between those under the covenant. Those initiating the covenant have to enter it willingly. It isn't something that can be imposed without agreement. It is also limited to the parties entering the covenant. A covenant creates a tie, bonding, or fellowship between those entering into it.

Most covenants are conditional. Both parties accept obligations and if either party doesn't fulfill its obligations the covenant is void. They are meant to last. Covenants bind people together to create a fellowship that didn't exist. It was to the mutual benefit of all parties. Fellowship is shown by giving.
